

Voice Works Coaching

IMPROVING THE SOUND OF YOUR SPEAKING VOICE

Whether you are speaking to 1 or 100, the sound of your voice makes a lasting impression on others. In today's world, where business is often conducted by phone, the way you project your voice can make or break your effectiveness as a communicator or leader.

In our unique Voice Works coaching sessions, you'll learn specific tips and techniques to optimize the sound of your speaking voice. Our coaches have worked with hundreds of speakers and business professionals over the years, having developed a proven process for enhancing the sound you project.

As part of your package, first you'll receive a personalized analysis of your voice from your coach. Then you'll learn effective voice production skills, demonstrated by our expert voice coaches who are trained in vocal performance and projection techniques. Based on your specific objectives, we'll provide you with a custom voice warmup routine to build new abilities with your speaking voice and eliminate any problem areas. Specific focus areas may include: Improving your volume, inflection, tone quality, pacing and speed, articulation and accent reduction. Your coaching sessions will be designed around your availability and those areas most important to you.

Appropriate For: Any individual or leader who wants to improve their speaking voice, in both their work and personal life.
